 Corporate Consolidators (The Big Buyers)

These are the firms actively acquiring veterinary clinics. They're both competitors and potential partners.

| Company                                     | Scale                         | Notes                                                            |
|---------------------------------------------|-------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------|
| VetStrategy Canada      | Largest Canadian consolidator | Toronto-based. Acquiring multi-clinic groups across Canada.      |
| NVA (National Veterinary Associates) | 1,000+ clinics globally       | Largest vet consolidator in the world. Backed by private equity. |
| Vetcor                               | 800+ clinics                  | Focuses on preserving clinic culture post-acquisition.           |

 Opportunity Analysis for Vet INC

The Gap

No one is offering AI-powered practice valuation as a self-service tool. Simmons charges $10K+ and takes weeks. Blue Heron requires consulting engagement. There is no "plug in your numbers and get an instant valuation" product in veterinary medicine.

Recommended Outreach Targets (Priority Order)

- 1. Dr. Andy Roark — largest independent vet voice. Partnership potential for valuation tool promotion.
- 2. MBC Brokerage (Jon Walton) — Canadian, could use Vet INC as a pre-listing valuation tool for their clients.
- 3. Legacy Valuations (Nika/Steve) — Canadian, same play as MBC.
- 4. Blue Heron Consulting — could integrate Vet INC data into their coaching practice.
- 5. dvm360 / Vet Blast — coverage/advertising opportunity for valuation tool launch.
- 6. Simmons Inc. — US but the biggest player. Could white-label the valuation tool.
